

Color Selection

Color samples should be used only as a guide in selecting colors. Because of the nature of the raw materials in the products we receive from our suppliers can vary from batch to batch. This coupled with the fact that our Standard Marble, Marblecast, Marblestone, and Onyxcast colors are mixed and veined by hand means that color shades, veining patterns and amounts of veining will vary in each piece just as with natural stone. These differences are to be expected and the uniqueness of each piece is part of the natural beauty of the product. Granitecast and Granitestone products are generally more consistent, but can vary slightly in color tone. Also, keep in mind, because of the raw materials used in these products as samples age, particularly lighter colors, they will have a tendency to turn very slightly "creamier" in tone then when they are newly made. We strive for as much consistency as possible in all of our colors and products, but it is virtually impossible to exactly duplicate today an item or sample that was made in the past. It is important that this be explained to your customers.

Color, amounts of color and veining patterns will vary from our samples. Please inform your customers because of the raw materials and manufacturing process used to manufacture these products it is impossible to duplicate colors day to day. Samples should only be used as a guide as color variation is common in all marble products and is not an acceptable reason for a warranty return.

Note: See next page for adding brass or silver Mica Chips and our Reflections gold or nickel sparkle chips to our colors.
